NOTE:—The above alphabetical list makes reference only to separate maps, inset maps, and to such land areas as are under separate governmental control—states, colonies, protectorates, etc. For all minor areas and political divisions, cities, towns, islands, etc., consult the marginal indices attached to the maps. The indices on the margins of the maps of the grand divisions or continents may be used to locate the larger political divisions, larger islands, and in the case of Africa the tribal sections, native kingdoms, etc. The indices on the margins of maps of countries, states, etc., give the minor political divisions and the larger cities and towns. To avoid overcrowding and consequent indistinctness some comparatively unimportant places are omitted from the maps; many of these places will be found in the marginal indices, and their situation on the map may be determined by means of the index reference letters and numbers.

DISTANCES BETWEEN PRINCIPAL PORTS OF THE WORLD.

The chief ports of the world are named in alphabetical order across the top and down the sides of the tables. The distance between any two ports will be found at the intersection of the two columns which contain the names of the selected ports. Thus the distance from Baltimore to Bombay is given as 8,431, and the small "S" shows that the route is via Suez Canal. Distances are for full-powered steam vessels reckoned in nautical miles.

INDEX

CITIES AND TOWNS OF THE UNITED STATES

1910 CENSUS

In this compilation the official population figures, as determined by the Thirteenth (1910) Census of the United States, are given for all cities, villages and boroughs separately enumerated by the government officials; of the places not separately enumerated by the Census Bureau, and for which there are no government figures obtainable, recent estimates, supplied by local officials and by other reliable authorities, are given. Capitals of states are printed in capital letters, and all places having one hundred or more inhabitants are named. The index references enclosed in parentheses, indicate location of city or village on the accompanying maps.

Some comparatively unimportant places have been omitted from the maps to avoid crowding and consequent indistinctness in the engraving; such omitted towns will be found in the list, and their situation on the map, in each case, may readily be determined by means of the index-reference letters and numbers.

PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, first President of the United States: born in Westmoreland County, Virginia, 22nd of February, 1732; died at Mount Vernon, 14th of December, 1799. He was the son of Augustine Washington, a Virginia planter. He left school when about sixteen years of age; was engaged in surveying 1748-51; was appointed adjutant of Virginia troops in 1751; inherited Mount Vernon on the death of his brother in 1752; was made commander of a military district of Virginia in 1753; was sent on a mission to the French authorities beyond the Allegheny river, 1753-54; was appointed lieutenant-colonel in 1754; had a successful skirmish with the French and defended Fort Mifflin, but was obliged to surrender on July 3, 1754; was a volunteer aide-de-camp to Braddock in 1755 in the battle of the Monongahela, and through his skill and knowledge of frontier warfare, saved the survivors of that disastrous engagement; commanded on the frontier, 1755-57; and led the advance guard in Forbes's expedition against Fort Duquesne in 1758. In January, 1759, he married Mrs. Martha Custis and settled as a planter at Mount Vernon. He was elected a delegate to the Virginia House of Burgesses, and to the Continental Congresses of 1774-75; became commander-in-chief of the Continental forces at Cambridge in July, 1775; and compelled the evacuation of Boston in March, 1776. His army was defeated in the battle of Long Island in August, 1776, and at White Plains in the October following. He retreated across New Jersey to Pennsylvania and crossing the Delaware surprised the Hessians at Trenton, December 26; won the victory of Princeton, January, 1777; was defeated at Brandywine and Germantown in 1777; wintered at Valley Forge, 1777-78; fought the drawn battle of Monmouth in 1778; compelled the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown in 1781; resigned his commission as commander-in-chief in 1783 and retired to Mount Vernon. In 1787 he was president of the Constitutional Convention; was unanimously elected President of the United States in February, 1789, and inaugurated at New York, April 30, 1789; was unanimously re-elected in 1793. His administrations were occupied with the establishment of the new government under the Constitution, and the regulation of finance and commerce. Among the important events were the admission of Vermont, Kentucky, and Tennessee, the Indian wars, the "whiskey insurrection," and the Jay treaty. In September, 1796, he issued his farewell address to the people. In 1798 he was appointed lieutenant-general of the army in anticipation of a war with France.

"It was always known by his friends, and it was soon acknowledged by the whole nation and by the English themselves, that in Washington America had found a leader who could be induced by no earthly motive to tell a falsehood, or to break an engagement, or to commit any dishonorable act. Men of this moral type are happily not rare, and we have all met them in our experience; but there is scarcely another instance in history of such a man's having reached and maintained the highest position in the convulsions of civil war and of a great popular agitation."—Lecky, England in the XVIIIth Century.

from Harvard College in 1755, taught school, studied law, was active in opposing the Stamp Act, was counsel for the soldiers charged with murder in connection with the "Boston massacre" of 1770, and became a leader of the patriot party. In 1774 he was chosen a member of the Revolutionary congress of Massachusetts. He was a delegate to the first and second Continental Congresses. In the Continental Congress of 1775 he proposed Washington as commander-in-chief of the Continental forces. He was one of the committee of five which drew up and signed the Declaration of Independence. In 1777 he was appointed commissioner to France; negotiated a treaty with the Netherlands in 1782; was one of the negotiators of the treaties with Great Britain, 1782-83; negotiated a treaty with Prussia; and was appointed United States minister to England in 1785. He was Federal Vice-President, 1789-97 and was elected as Federal candidate for President in 1796. His administration was a stormy one owing partly to the treacherous course of the French Directory toward the United States minister, partly to dissension in his cabinet, and partly to the rivalry of Hamilton. The Alien and Sedition Acts added to his unpopularity but his lofty patriotism and sincerity have never been questioned. In 1800 he was again the Federal candidate for President but was defeated and retired to Quincy in 1801.

JOHN ADAMS.

JOHN ADAMS, second President of the United States: born at Braintree (Quincy), Massachusetts, 30th of October, 1735; died at Quincy, Massachusetts, 4th of July, 1826. The son of a small farmer, he was graduated

THOMAS JEFFERSON.

THOMAS JEFFERSON, third President of the United States: born at Shadwell, Albemarle County, Virginia, 2nd of April, 1743; died at Monticello, Albemarle County, Virginia, 4th of July, 1826. He was graduated from William and Mary College, studied law, and entered upon its practice. He was a member of the Virginia House of Burgesses, 1769-75 and became active in the Revolutionary agitation. He drafted the instructions to the Virginia delegates to the first Continental Congress. He was a delegate to the second Continental Congress of 1775-76 and drew up the Declaration of Independence. He was again in the House of Burgesses, 1776-78, and was governor of Virginia, 1779-81; was a member of Congress, 1783-84; United States minister to France, 1785-89, while there writing his "Notes on Virginia" and witnessing the outbreak of the French Revolution; and secretary of state, 1790-93. In the ensuing years he became the founder and central figure of the Democratic-Republican party which was formed in opposition to the Federalists. He was Vice-President, 1797-1801, and President two terms, 1801-09. His administrations were marked by the abolition of some usages of an aristocratic tendency, by the war with Tripoli, the Louisiana Purchase, the Lewis and Clark expedition for the exploration of the northwest, the "Chesapeake" incident, the reduction of the national debt, and the embargo. In his later life he was interested in educational work and superintended the founding of the University of Virginia. His political theories have exerted a powerful influence upon public life in America.

JAMES MADISON.

JAMES MADISON, fourth President of the United States: born at Port Conway, Virginia, 16th of March, 1751; died at Montpelier, Virginia, 28th of June, 1836. He was graduated from Princeton College in 1771 and for a few years thereafter pursued his studies in Hebrew, theology, philosophy, and law. In 1774 he was a member of the Committee of Public Safety for Orange County, Virginia; in 1776 was an influential delegate to the convention which framed the Constitution of Virginia; was a member of the first Virginia legislature; was a delegate to Congress from Virginia, 1780-83; and to the Constitutional Convention of 1787; and had much influence in framing and shaping the Constitution, while later the keen analysis and clear cut arguments, put forth in his writings and speeches, were potent factors in securing its adoption; was member of Congress from Virginia, 1797; drew up the Virginia Resolutions of 1798; was secretary of state, 1801-09; was elected President as Democratic candidate in 1808; and was re-elected in 1812. Madison was a man of peace and it was not until after many diplomatic attempts to bring about an understanding with England that he yielded to popular pressure and consented to the War of 1812. The greater part of his second administration was devoted to that conflict, and party strife became very bitter. The Peace of Ghent in 1814 left the country practically where it was before the war, "its boundary unchanged, its international rights still undefined." But Madison's services to the struggling young Republic place him in the first rank of her statesmen.

JAMES MONROE.

JAMES MONROE, fifth President of the United States: born in Westmoreland County, Virginia, 28th of April, 1758; died at New York 4th of July, 1831. He was descended from Scotch cavalier stock. Having entered William and Mary College, he left his course unfinished to serve in the Revolutionary War. He was a member of the Virginia Assembly in 1782; was a member of Congress from Virginia, 1783-86; was a member of the Virginia ratification convention in 1788, where he earnestly opposed the centralizing features of the Constitution; was United States senator from Virginia, 1790-94; was United States minister to France, 1794-96; was governor of Virginia, 1799-1802; was one of the negotiators of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803; was United States minister to Great Britain, 1803-07; was again governor of Virginia in 1811; was secretary of state under Madison, 1811-17, and secretary of war, 1814-15; was elected President as the candidate of the Democratic-Republican party in 1816; and was re-elected in 1820. The period of his first administration is known as the "era of good feeling." His administrations were distinguished by the acquisition of Florida from Spain in 1819, the admission of the states of Mississippi, Illinois, Alabama, Maine, and Missouri. The discussion preceding the passage of the Missouri Compromise in that trial of strength between the slave and free states created bitter political strife. The promulgation of the Monroe Doctrine was more far-reaching in its effects than any other act of his useful, busy life and secured his title to fame. President Monroe's later years were passed away from his native state.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, sixth President of the United States: born at Braintree, Massachusetts, 11th of July, 1767; died at Washington, D. C. 23rd of February, 1848. He was the son of John Adams, second President of the United States. In his early life he was taken abroad by his father; studied at the University of Leyden, and at fourteen began his public career as secretary to Francis Dana, United States minister to Russia. He was graduated from Harvard in 1788; was admitted to the bar in 1791, and began to write on public affairs. He was minister to Holland, 1794-97; was minister to Prussia, 1797-1801; United States senator, 1803-08; was appointed minister to Russia in 1809; was one of the commissioners who negotiated the treaty of Ghent; was United States minister to England, 1815-17; and secretary of state to President Monroe, 1817-25. In the election of 1824 though he received but 84 electoral votes to 99 for Andrew Jackson, he was, by a coalition of his followers with the supporters of Clay, chosen President by the House of Representatives. Adams's administration was marked by intelligence, firmness, and integrity. It was, however, a stormy one owing to the bitter attacks of his enemies in Congress and to his own unbending and aggressive character. He favored protection, and internal improvements at Federal expense. He failed of reelection in 1828 but in 1831, at the age of sixty-four, he entered Congress as an independent member for the Quincy district in Massachusetts, which he represented till his death. He was an unsuccessful candidate for governor of Massachusetts in 1834.

ANDREW JACKSON.

ANDREW JACKSON, seventh President of the United States: born at the Waxhaw settlement, North Carolina, 15th of March, 1767; died at the Hermitage, near Nashville, Tennessee, 8th of June, 1845. He began his military career at the age of thirteen at the battle of Hanging Rock. He was member of Congress from Tennessee, 1796-97; United States senator, 1797-98; justice of the Supreme Court of Tennessee, 1798-1804; defeated the Creeks at Talladega in 1813, and at Emuckfau, and Horseshoe Bend in 1814; captured Pensacola from the English in 1814; defeated the English at New Orleans in January, 1815; conducted a campaign against the Seminoles, 1817-18; was appointed governor of Florida Territory in 1821; was United States senator from Tennessee, 1823-25; was an unsuccessful candidate for President, in 1824; was elected as the Democratic candidate for President in 1828; and was re-elected in 1832. He instituted the "spoils system" in national politics by discharging nearly 700 office-holders during the first year of his administration as against seventy-four removals by all the preceding Presidents. In July, 1832, he vetoed a bill for renewing the charter of the Bank of the United States. On December 11, 1832, he issued a proclamation in answer to the nullification ordinance passed by South Carolina, declaring void certain obnoxious duties on imports. In this proclamation he announced his determination to enforce the Federal laws, and following the proclamation he ordered United States troops to Charleston and Augusta, thus bringing about the submission of the nullifiers.

MARTIN VAN BUREN.

MARTIN VAN BUREN, eighth President of the United States: born at Kinderhook, New York, 5th of December, 1782; died at Kinderhook, 24th of July, 1862. He was eminent in his State both as a lawyer and as a Democratic politician; was an adroit party manager and often styled the "Little Magician." He was admitted to the bar in 1803; became surrogate of Columbia County in 1808; entered the New York State senate in 1812, and was re-elected to that body in 1816; was attorney-general of New York State, 1815-19; was United States senator from New York, 1821-28; was an influential member of the New York State constitutional convention in 1821; was governor of New York, 1828-29; was secretary of state under President Jackson, 1829-31; was sent as minister to Great Britain in 1831, but soon returned, owing to the rejection of his nomination by the United States Senate; was elected with Jackson for the latter's second term, serving as Vice-President, 1833-37; was elected as Democratic candidate for President in 1836 and served 1837-41. During his administration the country was troubled by the disastrous financial panic of 1837. Among the important features of his administration were the establishment of the independent treasury system, for which Mr. Van Buren deserved great credit, and the pre-emption law. Mr. Van Buren was again candidate for President in 1840 but was defeated by General William Henry Harrison. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for President in 1844; and the unsuccessful candidate of the Free-soil party for President in 1848.

WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON.

WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, ninth President of the United States: born at Berkeley, Charles City County, Virginia, 9th of February, 1773; died at Washington, D. C., 4th of April, 1841. He was the son of Benjamin Harrison, a signer of the Declaration of Independence; was educated at Hampden Sidney College; entered the army, and fought at Wayne's victory of 1794. In 1798 he became secretary of the Northwest Territory, and in 1799-1800 represented that Territory in Congress; was governor of the new Indiana Territory in 1800; was still governor when the Indian outbreak occurred, and his victory at Tippecanoe, November 7, 1811, gave him national prominence. In the war of 1812 he was major-general, first of Kentucky militia, and then in the regular army. He defended Fort Meigs against the British in 1813, and achieved his second military triumph by defeating Proctor and Tecumseh at the battle of the Thames. He was a member of Congress from Ohio, 1816-19; was United States senator, 1825-28; was made United States minister to Colombia, 1828-29; and was defeated by Van Buren as the Whig candidate for President in 1836. In December, 1839, the Whig party again put him forward as candidate for the presidency against Mr. Van Buren. The campaign of which the slogan was "Tippecanoe and Tyler, too," was one of enthusiastic demonstration for the "log cabin and hard cider" candidate and he succeeded president Van Buren on March 4, 1841. He held office but one month, falling a victim to the fatigue incident to the campaign and the clamor of office seekers.

JOHN TYLER.

JOHN TYLER, tenth President of the United States: born at Greenway, Charles City County, Virginia, 29th of March, 1790; died at Richmond, Virginia, 18th of June, 1862. He was educated at William and Mary College; was admitted to the bar in 1809; was member of the Virginia legislature, 1811-16; volunteered for the defense of Richmond in 1813; was member of Congress from Virginia, 1816-21; was a member of the legislature, 1823-25; was governor of Virginia, 1825-27; and was United States senator from Virginia, 1827-36. He opposed the tariff, the bank, and the Force Bill, and resigned in February, 1836, because of unwillingness to obey instructions of the Virginia legislature to vote for the "expunging resolution." He received 47 electoral votes in 1836 as candidate of the "States-rights Whigs" for Vice-President; was returned to the Virginia legislature in 1838; and was nominated by the Whigs as candidate for Vice-President in December, 1839. The death of President Harrison on April 4, 1841, one month after his inauguration, left Mr. Tyler President of the United States. His administration was marked by the quarrel with the leaders of the Whig party; the veto of the fiscal bank bills in 1841; veto of the protective bill in 1842; the Ashburton treaty; and the annexation of Texas. He was nominated for President by a Democratic convention in 1842, but subsequently withdrew. He was made peace commissioner by President Buchanan in 1861; was president of the peace convention in February, 1861; favored secession of Virginia; and was made a member of the Confederate provisional congress. His death occurred during the first year of the Civil War.

JAMES KNOX POLK.

JAMES KNOX POLK, eleventh President of the United States: born in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina, 2nd of November, 1795; died at Nashville, Tennessee, 15th of June, 1849. He was a graduate of the University of North Carolina and became a lawyer in Tennessee, having been admitted to the bar in 1820. He represented Tennessee as a Democratic member of Congress, 1825-1839; was chairman of the Ways and Means committee; was speaker of the House of Representatives, 1835-39; was governor of Tennessee from 1839 to 1841; was defeated candidate for governor in 1841 and again in 1843. In 1844 the Democrats selected Mr. Polk as a "safe," compromise candidate for the presidency. The election was a close, hard struggle, with Mr. Clay, the great compromiser, as the Whig candidate. It ended in a victory for Mr. Polk, who had 175 electoral votes. He was inaugurated March 4, 1845, and his administration was one of great interest. The Mexican war, in which President Polk thoroughly believed, was vigorously prosecuted and its termination resulted in the acquisition by the United States of California and other Mexican territory. The boundary between Oregon and Canada, which had long been a subject of controversy between England and the United States, was peaceably settled by treaty in 1846. The revenue "Walker Tariff" received his approval, but he vetoed river and harbor bills in 1846 and 1847. As his term was nearing its end, gold was discovered in California and the movement of population to the westward greatly accelerated. Mr. Polk lived but a few months after his retirement from office.

ZACHARY TAYLOR.

ZACHARY TAYLOR, twelfth President of the United States: born in Orange County, Virginia, 24th of September, 1784; died at Washington, D. C., 9th of July, 1850. He entered the United States army as first lieutenant ant in 1808; served in the War of 1812, attaining the rank of major; defended Fort Harrison against the Indians in 1812; served in Black Hawk's war in 1832, with the rank of colonel; won a victory over the Seminole Indians at Okechobee in 1837, and was brevetted brigadier-general; and became commander-in-chief in Florida in 1838. Later he commanded United States forces in the Southwest. When war with Mexico became imminent in 1845 Taylor was ordered to the disputed Texan frontier. He commanded in northern Mexico in the Mexican war; gained the battle of Palo Alto, May 8, 1846, and that of Resaca de la Palma the following day; took possession of Matamoras on May 18th; captured Monterey, September 24; and defeated Santa Ana at Buena Vista, February 22-23, 1847. He was appointed major-general June 29, 1846. The war over, Taylor became the national hero and in 1848 the Whigs nominated him as candidate for President over such competitors as Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. He was elected and entered upon his duties in 1849. The admission of California was complicated with the slavery question and the controversy attendant upon the settlement of these absorbing topics filled the brief period of his administration which was closed by his death sixteen months after his inauguration.

MILLARD FILLMORE.

MILLARD FILLMORE, thirteenth President of the United States: born at Summer Hill, Cayuga County, New York, 7th of January, 1800; died at Buffalo, New York, 8th of March, 1874. He was the son of Nathaniel Fillmore, a farmer of very modest fortune. While still a boy he learned the trade of a fuller; later he studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1823, and took up practice at Aurora, New York; was a member of the New York State House of Representatives, 1829-33, and drafted the bill abolishing imprisonment for debt; served as a representative of the Whig party from New York, in Congress, 1833-35, and again, 1837-43; during the latter term was a member of the Ways and Means committee and drafted the tariff bill of 1842; was comptroller of the State of New York, 1847-49; was elected Vice-President on the Whig ticket headed by Zachary Taylor in 1848; became President on the death of President Taylor, July 9, 1850, retiring from office March 4, 1853. During his administration the Compromise Acts of 1850 were passed with the cordial approval of President Fillmore. The expedition to Japan under Commodore Perry in 1853 was organized and executed. During his administration his political opponents were in control of both houses of Congress. Daniel Webster was his secretary of state. In 1856 Mr. Fillmore became the National American candidate for President of the United States but was defeated by Franklin Pierce, the Democratic candidate. He commanded a corps during the Civil war, and was the honored president of the Buffalo Historical Society.

FRANKLIN PIERCE.

FRANKLIN PIERCE, fourteenth President of the United States: born at Hillsborough, New Hampshire, 23d of November, 1804; died at Concord, New Hampshire, 8th of October, 1869. He was the son of Benjamin Pierce; was graduated from Bowdoin College, where he was an associate of Hawthorne and Longfellow. After his graduation from Bowdoin he studied law and was admitted to the bar of his native State. While very young he was elected to the State Legislature and became speaker of that body. He was representative of the Democratic party of New Hampshire in Congress 1833-37; was United States senator, 1839-42; was offered a cabinet position, which he declined; was a volunteer in the Mexican War, 1846-48; was distinguished for bravery, and was appointed brigadier-general; won credit in the battles of Contreras and Churubusco. His war record was a decisive factor in making him a presidential candidate. He was president of the New York State constitutional convention in 1850, and attained eminence in his profession. At the Democratic National convention of 1852, Pierce was nominated on the forty-ninth ballot, triumphing over such prominent competitors as Marcy, Cass, Buchanan, and Douglas. In the election he received 254 electoral votes. His administration was marked by the agitation of the Kansas-Nebraska question and the growth of the slavery controversy, by the Japan treaty, by the Nicaraguan affairs, the dissolution of the Whig party, and rise of the American and Republican parties. President Pierce was defeated for re-nomination in 1856.

JAMES BUCHANAN.

JAMES BUCHANAN, fifteenth President of the United States: born at Stony Batter, Franklin County, Pennsylvania, 22d of April, 1791; died at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, 1st of June, 1868. His father, an Irishman, settled on a farm at Stony Batter in 1783. James was educated at Dickinson College, Carlisle, from which institution he was graduated. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1812. In 1814 he was elected to the legislature of Pennsylvania, and to Congress in 1820, remaining a member of that body till 1831. President Jackson sent him as special ambassador to Russia to arrange a commercial treaty with that country. Returning to the United States in 1833 he was elected to the Senate. During the anti-slavery agitation Buchanan tried to keep it out of Congress by declaring that, constitutionally, it was a question which could be settled only by the individual states. Buchanan was secretary of state under President Polk. In 1853 President Pierce made him United States minister to England where he was distinguished by his dignified conduct of the affairs of his office. He returned to America in 1856 the chosen candidate of the Democratic party for the presidency. He was elected by a large majority over General Fremont, the Republican candidate. The questions of slavery and State-rights were the paramount issues of his administration. While claiming that the states had no right to secede, he denied the power of the Federal government to prevent their doing so. He became, however, a staunch supporter of President Lincoln and encouraged the prosecution of the war.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, sixteenth President of the United States: born in Hardin County, Kentucky, 12th of February, 1809; died at Washington, D. C., 15th of April, 1865. He was the son of Thomas Lincoln, descended from English Quaker stock. In 1816 the family moved from Kentucky to Indiana and in 1830 settled in Illinois. Soon after the latter change Lincoln began to work for himself and was engaged at different times as farm laborer, salesman, merchant, and surveyor. He was admitted to the bar in 1836 and began the practice of law at Springfield in 1837. He served in the Black Hawk war in 1832; was a Whig member of the Illinois State legislature, 1834-42; was Whig member of Congress from Illinois, 1847-49; was Republican candidate for United States senator in 1858 and was defeated by Stephen A. Douglas. In a series of debates with Mr. Douglas held throughout Illinois Mr. Lincoln took so pronounced a stand against slavery that he acquired national fame and became the Republican candidate for President in 1860. He was elected, and was inaugurated March 4, 1861. His election was followed by the secession, one after another, of the slave states of the South and by the organization of the Confederacy. War was begun by the Secessionists at Fort Sumpter on April 12, 1861 and continued for four years. In September, 1862, President Lincoln issued a proclamation emancipating all slaves in states, or parts of states, which should be in rebellion on January 1, 1863. Mr. Lincoln was re-elected in 1864. He was shot by John Wilkes Booth at Ford's Theatre, Washington, D. C., April 14, 1865.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

ANDREW JOHNSON, seventeenth President of the United States: born at Raleigh, North Carolina, 29th of December, 1808; died in Carter County, Tennessee, 31st of July, 1875. He had no advantages of education, and was in early life a tailor. He was a man of tireless energy of character and after establishing himself in Tennessee he became a member of the State legislature; was a member of Congress from Tennessee, 1843-53; was governor of Tennessee, 1853-57; was United States senator, 1857-62; was military governor of Tennessee, 1862-64; was elected as Republican candidate for Vice-President with Lincoln in 1864; succeeded Lincoln as President on April 15th, 1865. His nomination to the vice-presidency was brought about by the Republicans as a means to conciliate the war Democrats. His unexpected accession to the presidency placed him in conflict with the party which had elected him because of his Democratic State-rights convictions. Congress was then heavily Republican. Mr. Johnson was a man of hasty temper and grim determination, and the quarrel which ensued between them was bitter. Matters culminated when Mr. Johnson attempted to remove Edwin M. Stanton from the secretaryship of war without the consent of the Senate, contrary to the tenure of office act passed over his veto, March 2, 1867. He was impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors, but was acquitted after a trial lasting from March 23 to May 26, 1868. The vote for acquittal stood 35 to 19, very nearly the two-thirds vote necessary to conviction. That Mr. Johnson was sincere and desired to serve his country's best interests cannot be doubted.

ULYSSES SIMPSON GRANT.

ULYSSES SIMPSON GRANT, eighteenth President of the United States: born at Point Pleasant, Clermont County, Ohio, 27th of April, 1822; died at Mount McGregor, New York, 23d of July, 1885. He was graduated from West Point in 1843; served through the Mexican War, 1846-48; left the army in 1854 and retired to private life, living in St. Louis and later in Galena, Illinois. On the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861 he was appointed colonel of volunteers and brigadier-general, August 7; captured Fort Donelson, February 16, 1862; was thereafter promoted to major-general of volunteers; was made commander of the District of West Tennessee; was made commander of the Department of Tennessee in October, 1862; received the surrender of Vicksburg, July 4, 1863, and was then made major-general in the regular army; was made commander of the Military Division of the Mississippi in October, 1863; was made lieutenant-general and commander of all the American armies in March, 1864; took up his headquarters with the Army of the Potomac in May, conducted the Wilderness campaign and commenced the siege of Petersburg in June; received the surrender of Lee at Appomattox, Virginia, April 9, 1865; was made general, July 25, 1866; was secretary of war ad interim, August, 1867—January, 1868; was elected President as Republican candidate in 1868, and re-elected in 1872; was an unsuccessful candidate for re-nomination in 1880. His administrations were marked by the passage of the Fifteenth Amendment, the inauguration of civil service reform, and the negotiation with Great Britain of the Treaty of Washington.

RUTHERFORD BIRCHARD HAYES.

RUTHERFORD BIRCHARD HAYES, nineteenth President of the United States: born at Delaware, Ohio, 4th of October, 1822; died at Fremont, Ohio, 17th of January, 1893. He was graduated from Kenyon College in 1842; studied law and settled in Fremont, Ohio. Later he was city solicitor in Cincinnati. On the outbreak of the war he volunteered, became major of Ohio infantry, served with distinction throughout the war, and, at its close retired as brevet major-general. He entered Congress in 1865, and, having been elected governor of Ohio, he occupied that position from 1868 to 1872. He was defeated for Congress in the election of 1872; and was elected governor on the "honest money" issue in 1875 after a campaign which attracted national attention. It was his success in this contest which caused his name to be presented to the Republican National convention of 1876. In the election which followed, his Democratic opponent was Samuel J. Tilden of New York. The election was contested and finally settled by an Electoral Commission appointed by an Act of Congress, January 29, 1877, to investigate charges of fraudulent returns of electoral votes from Florida, Louisiana, Oregon, and South Carolina. The commission was composed of three Republican senators, two Democratic senators, three Democratic representatives, two Republican representatives, and five associate justices of the Supreme Court. By the decision of this commission Mr. Hayes was declared elected. During his administration occurred the great railroad strikes of 1877, and the resumption of specie payments in 1879.

JAMES ABRAM GARFIELD.

JAMES ABRAM GARFIELD, twentieth President of the United States: born at Orange, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, 19th of November, 1831; died at Elberon, New Jersey, 19th of September, 1881. He was a poor boy and after an early struggle with poverty, he entered Hiram College in Ohio. From there he went to Williams College and graduated in 1856. For a time he was an instructor in and later president of Hiram College, 1856-61, and a member of the Ohio Senate, 1859-61. In the opening year of the war he was appointed lieutenant-colonel of volunteers and entrusted with a small independent command. At Middle Creek, Kentucky, he won a victory on January 10, 1862. He was made a brigadier-general, served with distinction at Shiloh, and became chief of staff in Rosecrans' Army of the Cumberland, serving at Chickamauga, in 1863; was promoted major-general in 1863; had been already elected to Congress, and took his seat in December, 1863. From this time he served continuously until 1880, being one of the leading debaters and orators on the Republican side. He was a member of important committees, Military Affairs, Ways and Means, Banking and Currency, and Appropriations and of the Electoral Commission of 1877. He was elected United States senator for Ohio in 1880 and a few weeks later received the Republican nomination for President. His opponent on the Democratic ticket was General Hancock. General Garfield, entering office in March 1881, became immediately involved in the Republican factional quarrels of New York. He was shot on July 2nd, 1881, by a fanatic, Guiteau, and died several weeks later.

CHESTER ALAN ARTHUR.

CHESTER ALAN ARTHUR, twenty-first President of the United States: born at Fairfield, Vermont, 5th of October, 1830; died at New York, 18th of November, 1886. He was graduated from Union College in 1848, and taught school for some years. He then studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practised in New York City where he attracted attention as a champion of the rights of colored people in that city. He was appointed a member of the staff of governor Morgan of New York in 1861. During the war he served with distinction as engineer-in-chief, acting quarter-master-general, and inspector-general. He was a prominent participator in New York politics and was appointed Collector of the Port of New York in 1871, from which position he was removed by President Hayes in 1878. After the prolonged and bitter contest for the Republican nomination which ended in the choice of Garfield as candidate for the presidency, Mr. Arthur was selected for the second place on the ticket as a representative of the Stalwart faction. Becoming Vice-President in March, 1881, he was suddenly called to the first position by the assassination of Garfield, and took the oath of office on September 20, 1881. His administration opened rather inauspiciously because of the prejudices formed by reason of his active interference in New York politics during his term as Vice-President, proved dignified and conservative and won him the respect of all classes. He gave his influence to the strengthening of naval defences, vetoed a Chinese immigration bill and a suspiciously large river and harbor bill. He was an unsuccessful candidate for re-nomination in 1884.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

GROVER CLEVELAND, twenty-second and twenty-fourth President of the United States; born at Caldwell, New Jersey, March 18th, 1837; died June 24th, 1908. The son of a clergyman, Mr. Cleveland received a fair education, studied law, and entered upon its practice at Buffalo, New York, in 1859. He was assistant district attorney of Erie County, 1863-66; was defeated for district attorney in 1865; and was sheriff of Erie County, 1871-74. A reform movement made him Mayor of Buffalo in 1881 and his efficient administration made such a favorable impression that in the summer of 1882 he received the Democratic nomination for governor of New York. Republican disaffection contributed to his election by a majority of 192,000. His administration, following such an unprecedented victory, was such as to give satisfaction to all who desired honest government and in 1884 he received the Democratic nomination for President and was elected over James G. Blaine, the Republican candidate. His administration was marked by his support of civil service reform, of hard money, and especially of tariff reform, which he advocated in a message to Congress in December, 1887. He was again the candidate of his party in 1888 but was defeated. He retired from office, resumed the practice of law, and settled in New York City. In 1892 he was the third time nominated by the Democrats and was elected over Benjamin Harrison, his opponent in the contest of 1888. In 1893 President Cleveland convened an extra session of Congress, which repealed the purchasing clause of the so-called Sherman Silver Bill.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

BENJAMIN HARRISON, twenty-third President of the United States; born at North Bend, Ohio, 20th of August, 1833; died at Indianapolis, Indiana, 13th of March, 1901. He was the grandson of William Henry Harrison, ninth President of the United States. He was graduated from Miami University in 1852; studied law, and settled in Indianapolis to practice his profession. He was elected (Republican) reporter of the Indiana Supreme Court in 1860. Soon after the outbreak of hostilities between North and South he volunteered and became colonel of an Indiana regiment. In the battles of Resaca, and Peach Tree Creek, in 1864, he won distinction for bravery and left the army with the brevet of brigadier-general. He then resumed his position of Supreme Court reporter and was later known as an effective campaign orator and successful lawyer. In 1876 he received the Republican nomination for governor of Indiana but was defeated by a small majority. His name was presented to the Republican national convention of 1880. He was elected to the United States Senate and served from 1881-87. At the Republican national convention of 1888 he received the nomination, and was elected over President Cleveland in a campaign in which protection was the principal issue. His administration was marked by the McKinley Tariff Act in 1890, with the attendant feature of reciprocity, and by the meeting of the first Pan-American Congress. In 1892 Mr. Harrison was again the Republican nominee for the presidency but in the election he was again confronted with Mr. Cleveland as the Democratic candidate and was defeated.

WILLIAM McKINLEY.

WILLIAM McKINLEY, twenty-fifth President of the United States; born at Niles, Trumbull County, Ohio, 29th of January, 1844; died at Buffalo, New York, 14th of September, 1901. He was educated at Union Seminary, Poland, Ohio, and at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. He was forced by ill health to abandon his studies before completing the college course. For a time he was a school teacher and then clerk in the Poland post office. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted as a private soldier and served with distinction throughout the war, and when mustered out in July, 1865, was acting assistant adjutant-general. At the close of the war he studied law at Youngstown, Ohio, and Albany, New York, and settled for practice in Canton, Ohio. He was prosecuting attorney of Stark County, 1870-71; was Republican member of the 45th, 46th, 47th, 49th, 50th, and 51st Congresses; was defeated for the 52nd Congress. As Congressman he became a figure of national prominence and served on many important committees. As chairman of the Ways and Means committee he introduced and supported the tariff bill of 1890 which bore his name. He served two terms as governor of Ohio, 1892-96. He was nominated and elected President by the Republican party in 1896, and re-elected in 1900. On September 6, 1901, he was shot at Buffalo by Leon Czolgosz, an anarchist, and died on September 14. The Spanish-American war, the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, and the establishment of civil government in the Philippine Islands were among the important events of his administration.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, twenty-sixth President of the United States; born at New York City, 27th of October, 1858. He was educated privately and at Harvard, from which institution he was graduated in 1880. He then traveled for a year in Europe and in 1881 published his first book, "The Naval War of 1812." He entered politics as a champion of civil service reform; was elected to the State Assembly of New York in 1881; was chairman of the New York delegation to the Republican national convention of 1884; was independent candidate for the mayoralty of New York, in 1886, but was defeated; was appointed a member of the United States Civil Service Commission and served from 1886 to 1895; was influential in advancing the number of employees on that list from 14,000 to 40,000; was president of the board of New York police commissioners, 1896; was assistant-secretary of the navy, 1897-98; was lieutenant-colonel of the United States volunteer cavalry regiment, known as "Roosevelt's Rough Riders," bore a conspicuous part in the Cuban campaign and was promoted colonel; was elected governor of New York, 1898; was Republican candidate for Vice-President and was elected 1900. On the death of President McKinley he became President, September 14, 1901; and he was elected in 1904 by the largest popular majority ever given a candidate. The most important events of his two administrations have been the establishment of self government in Cuba, recognition of the independence of Panama, the beginning of the Panama Canal, the passage of the Reclamation Act, and establishment of a provisional government in Cuba.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT, twenty-seventh President of the United States; born at Cincinnati, 15th of September, 1857. The son of Alphonso Taft, an American jurist, statesman, and diplomat; was graduated from Yale in 1878; received the degree of L. L. B. from the Law School of Cincinnati University in 1880 and was admitted to the Ohio bar in the same year; received the degree of L. L. D. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1902, from Yale in 1903, from Harvard in 1905, and from Miami in 1905; was law reporter for two Cincinnati papers, 1880-1; assistant prosecutor of Hamilton Co., Ohio, 1881-2; collector of internal revenue, first Ohio-district, 1882-3; practiced law, Cincinnati, 1883-7; judge of the Superior Court of Ohio, 1887-90; he laid the foundation for Federal control of trusts upon the principles of the common law; solicitor-general of the United States, 1890-2; dean and professor in law department, University of Cincinnati, 1896-1900; U. S. circuit judge, 1892-1900; was chairman of U. S. Philippine Commission from March 13, 1900 to February 1, 1903; was appointed first civil governor of the Philippine Islands in 1901 and served there until December, 1903. In the administration of the above office he dispelled all apprehension of American imperialism; established civil government in all the provinces, a public school system with schools in 600 of the 900 towns, a judiciary system with a supreme court and 15 judicial district courts, a health department dealing effectively with the native pests, and postal and civil service systems. While governor he went to Rome in 1902 and negotiated with Pope Leo XIII the purchase of agricultural lands owned by religious orders in the Philippines. Returning from the Philippines in December, 1903, Mr. Taft spent some time in Panama advising in questions pertaining to the government of the canal zone. In February, 1904, he became Secretary of War and served until July, 1908, having charge not only of the army proper, but of the insular possessions of the United States and organized that mammoth work in connection with the Panama Canal, bringing order out of chaos, and the palm of administration to the American Republic. In 1904 he went to Cuba, settled an insurrection, and established a provisional government. In 1907 he visited Cuba, Porto Rico, Panama, the Philippine Islands, Japan and China, returning home by way of Russia. In July, 1908, he was nominated for the Presidency by the Republican National convention and in the following November carried states yielding 321 Electoral votes.

THE WHITE HOUSE.

THE WHITE HOUSE in Washington, where our Presidents have their official home, was the first public building erected in Washington, and was designed by James Hoban, who modeled it after the seat of the Dukes of Leinster near Dublin. It is a handsome mansion in the English Renaissance style, with a projecting columned and pedimented porch on the entrance front, and a large semi-circular projecting bay on the garden front opposite. The corner stone was laid by George Washington in 1792 and the house was first occupied by John Adams in 1800. In 1814 during our war with England, the house was fired by British troops and only the walls were left standing. When the building was restored the walls of Virginia freestone were painted white to obliterate the marks of the fire, and outside of official usage the Executive Mansion has since been familiarly known as the White House. It fronts historic Lafayette Square. On one side is the Treasury, on the other, the State, War and Navy Buildings. The house stands amid the President's Grounds which merge into the Mall, and stretch away to the Monument and the Potomac. The White House gives the impression of stately simplicity and its surroundings are worthy of note. Extensive alterations and additions were made to the building in 1902-3. The conservatory, which was formerly a familiar feature of the west side, has given place to an esplanade leading to the new Executive Office. The house had long been too small to meet the business and domestic requirements of the head of a great nation, and the provision of a building for the executive offices has removed an embarrassing situation.

THE REPUBLIC OF PANAMA.

The Isthmus of Panama was visited by Alonso de Ojeda in 1499, and coasted by Columbus in 1501-1502. It was organized by Spain as the Province of Castilla del Oro in 1509, and became part of the kingdom of New Granada. It remained Spanish territory until 1819, when it achieved independence from Spain. It then passed through many vicissitudes and changes, at one time being a member of the Granadian Confederation and then one of the United States of Colombia. On November 4, 1903, it asserted its independence of the Colombian government, and the de facto government was immediately recognized by the United States government and later by the leading governments of Europe.

The de facto government of the new state consisted of three officials, styled consuls. These consuls exercised the functions of President of the Republic, and there was a council of six ministers representing various administrative departments. A constitutional convention, elected on January 4, 1904, met on January 15, and chose a President of the Republic.

Political Features.—The republic of Panama, formerly a department in the republic of Colombia, was established November 3, 1903. It has a centralized republican form of government which applies to all parts of the isthmus, excepting the Canal Zone.

The executive authority of the government is vested in a President, elected by popular vote for a term of four years. He is assisted by a cabinet of four members.

The lawmaking branch of the government is a single body, the National Assembly, consisting of Deputies, elected for a term of four years. The Assembly meets every two years, and its powers conform to those vested in all republican assemblies.

Panama is divided into seven provinces, each administered by a governor. The provinces are in turn divided into municipal districts, administered by popularly elected Municipal Council and by a Mayor.

The administration of justice in the republic of Panama is vested in a Supreme Court, and in Circuit Courts, and other inferior tribunals established by law.

Area.—The extreme length of Panama is about 480 miles and its width from 35 to 110 miles. The total area is about 31,570 square miles.

Population.—The population is about 340,000. The inhabitants are largely of mixed race.

Surface.—The surface is generally mountainous; the mountain system is made up of loosely connected ridges and spurs under various names. The most westerly of these ranges, the Chiriqui Mountains, has a mean elevation of 6,500 feet. The principal peaks are Mt. Chiriqui, 11,265 feet, and Mt. Blanco, 11,740 feet. Farther east the mountain system receives the name of Veragua Mountains, the above-named routes were made by the United States, and the results of these examinations pointed to the superior advantages of the Panama route. Before any decisive action had been taken by the United States, a Frenchman named Wyse secured from the Colombian government a concession for building an interoceanic canal. The surveys and explorations made by Wyse had been hasty and incomplete, but, armed with the Colombian concession, he returned to France and secured the interest of Ferdinand de Lesseps in the scheme. Through the latter's invitation an international scientific congress met at Paris in May, 1879, to consider the question of an interoceanic canal. The decision of the congress was in favor of the Panama route. It should be noted that the American delegates refrained from voting.

A Panama Canal Company was now formed, with M. de Lesseps as head, and the Wyse concession was purchased. De Lesseps visited the isthmus, announced that the canal was practicable, and an "international technical committee" estimated the cost at $169,000,000. The shares were rapidly taken in France, and the work of construction was begun in October, 1881. The canal was to follow much the same route as that of the railway from Colon to Panama. It was to be a sea-level canal, having a depth of 29.5 feet and a bottom width of 72 feet, with a length of about forty-seven miles. Later the company was forced to admit that a sea-level canal could not be built in the time specified, with the money available, and plans for a lock canal were substituted. The French company made many mistakes, met with many discouragements, and finally abandoned work for want of funds, in March, 1889. Provisional administrators were appointed by the French courts, and various schemes were advanced for rehabilitating the company. Up to that time the work is said to have absorbed $260,000,000, obtained by the sale of shares and bonds, mainly to people of small means in France, and finally by lottery drawings, which were authorized by the French government. In 1894 a new company was formed which obtained a concession for ten years, extended in 1900 by six years, so as to terminate in April, 1910, by which time it was estimated the canal could be finished. Twelve miles of the entire length of the canal had been so far finished by the French companies as to be navigable. This did not, however, include the more difficult portions of the work, and the sentiment was pretty well established that the French company would not be able to carry the work to a successful conclusion.

Soon after the close of the Spanish-American war the United States announced its intention to undertake the building of an interoceanic canal, and entered into a treaty with Great Britain providing for the neutralization of the canal by whatever route it might be constructed, and for its use on equal terms by vessels of all nations. On January 4, 1902, the French company offered to sell to the United States all their rights and property on the isthmus for $40,000,000. In view of this offer, the United States Isthmian Canal Commission recommended the Panama route. On January 22, 1903, a treaty between the United States and Colombia was signed, whereby the United States was to receive a lease of the necessary strip of land for 100 years, renewable at the pleasure of the United States. This treaty was rejected by the Colombian Congress in August, 1903. Then followed the establishment of the Republic of Panama. A canal treaty between the United States and Panama was signed on November 18, 1903. It provided for the construction and maintenance of the canal, as follows: Panama grants in perpetuity the use of a zone five miles wide on each side of the canal route, and, within this zone, the exclusive control for police, judicial, sanitary, and other purposes. Other territory is ceded for subsidiary canals. For the defence of the canal, the coast line of the zone and the islands in Panama Bay are ceded. The cities of Panama and Colon remain under the authority of Panama, but the United States has complete jurisdiction in both cities and in their harbors in all that relates to sanitation and quarantine. In return for these grants the United States paid Panama $10,000,000 on the ratification of the treaty, and will pay $250,000 yearly, beginning after nine years.

Following the ratification of the treaty between the United States and Panama, the President appointed an Isthmian Canal Commission to take charge of the construction of the canal and the government of the Canal Zone. This Commission remained in office until April, 1905, when a new Commission was appointed. A Board of Consulting Engineers was appointed on June 24, 1905, composed of eminent engineers of the United States, England, France, Germany, and the Netherlands. The foreign representatives on the advisory board were appointed by their respective governments on the invitation of the President. These engineers were to consider and decide the type of canal to be built.

DESCRIPTION OF THE CANAL.

The Canal will have a summit elevation of 85 feet above the sea, to be reached by a flight of three locks located at Gatun, on the Atlantic side, and by one lock at Pedro Miguel and a flight of two at Miraflores, on the Pacific side; all these locks to be in duplicate, that is, to have two chambers, side by side.

THE HARBOR OF PANAMA

Each lock will have a usable length of 1,000 feet and a width of 110 feet. The summit level, extending from Gatun to Pedro Miguel, a distance of about 31.5 miles, is to be regulated between 82 and 87 feet above sea level by means of the spillway in the dam at Gatun. The Gatun Lake, which will have an area of 164.23 square miles, will be maintained by earth dams at Gatun and Pedro Miguel. The Chagres River and other streams will empty into this lake. A small lake, about 2 square miles in area, with a surface elevation of 55 feet, will be formed between Pedro Miguel and Miraflores, the valley of the Rio Grande being closed by an earth dam on the west side and a concrete dam with spillway on the east side at Miraflores.

The approaches from deep water to the Gatun locks on the Atlantic side, and from deep water to the locks at Miraflores on the Pacific side, will be sea-level channels, about 7 and 8 miles in length, respectively, and each 500 feet wide.

LENGTH, WIDTH, AND DEPTH OF CANAL.

The Canal is to be about 50 miles in length from deep water in the Caribbean Sea to deep water in the Pacific Ocean. The distance from deep water to the shore line in Limon Bay is about 4.5 miles, and from the Pacific shore line to deep water is about 5 miles; hence the length of the Canal from shore to shore will be approximately 40.5 miles.

The channel from Mile 0 in the Caribbean to Mile 6.7 at the north end of Gatun locks will be 500 feet wide; from the south end of Gatun locks to Mile 23.5, not less than 1,000 feet wide; from Mile 23.5 to Mile 26.5, 800 feet wide; from Mile 26.5 to Mile 27.0, 700 feet wide; from Mile 27.0 to Mile 31.25, 500 feet wide; from Mile 31.25 to Pedro Miguel lock (Mile 39.36), 300 feet wide, and from Pedro Miguel lock to Miraflores locks, and from Miraflores locks to deep water in Panama Bay, 500 feet wide.

The average bottom width of the channel in this project is 649 feet, and the minimum width is 300 feet. The Canal will have a minimum depth of 41 feet.

GATUN DAM.

The Gatun dam along the crest will be 9,040 feet long, including the spillway, or about 1.8 miles, and 1,900 feet wide at its greatest width.

The crest of the dam will be at an elevation of 115 feet above sea level, or 30 feet above the normal level of Gatun Lake, and 100 feet wide. The width of the dam at the normal water level of the lake, i.e.: 85 feet above sea level, will be 375 feet.

The central part of the dam will be filled by hydraulic process, protected by rock toes on both sides of the dam. The upper slope on the lake side of the dam will be further protected by 10 feet thickness of rock. The other parts of the dam will be filled with available material from Canal excavation.

LINE OF CANAL.

In entering the Canal from the Atlantic side, a ship will proceed from deep water in Limon Bay to Gatun locks, a distance of about 7 miles, through a channel 500 feet wide; passing into the locks, .6 of a mile in length, the ship will be carried up to an elevation of 85 feet above sea level in three lifts to the level of the water in Gatun Lake; thence for a distance of nearly 16 miles the channel will be 1,000 feet or more in width to San Pablo; from San Pablo to Juan Grande, 3.8 mile the channel will be 800 feet wide; from Juan Grande to Obispo, 3.7 miles, the channel will be 500 feet wide; from Obispo to Pedro Miguel locks, through the Culebra Cut, a distance of about 8.2 miles, the channel will be 300 feet wide. Going through Pedro Miguel lock and approaches, nearly .3 of a mile in total length, the vessel will be lowered to the level of Miraflores Lake, 55 feet above mean tide, through which there will be a channel 500 feet wide and 1.4 miles long to the Miraflores locks; thence through the two Miraflores locks, of a total length, including approach walls, of over .9 of a mile, the vessel will be lowered to tide level and proceed through a channel 500 feet wide and 8 miles long to deep water in the Pacific. It is estimated that the time required for the passage of a ship of medium size through the entire length of the Canal would be from 9½ to 10 hours, and for larger vessels from 10½ to 11 hours.

EXCAVATION BY THE FRENCH.

The amount of material taken out by the Old and New Panama Canal Companies was 78,146,960 cubic yards, of which it is estimated 29,908,000 cubic yards will be utilized in the adopted plan of Canal.

TOTAL AMOUNT OF EXCAVATION.

The following is the estimated excavation required, May 4, 1904, based on the present plans for the lock canal:

Division.	Prism.	Displacements, etc.	Locks.	Dams.	Total.
Atlantic	36,205,125	1,722,882	5,139,304	.....	43,067,310
Central	88,544,493	1,250,000	.....	.....	89,794,493
Pacific	36,534,599	.....	5,015,459	244,735	41,794,791
Total.	161,284,216	2,982,882	10,154,763	244,735	174,666,594

COMPARISON BETWEEN LOCK AND SEA LEVEL PROJECTS.

For the purpose of comparison, it may be stated that an estimate has been made from the latest available data, which shows that the excavation required in the Canal prism for a sea level canal as of May 4, 1904, would be 319,146,000 cubic yards.

This estimate is for a sea level canal from the -41 foot contour in Limon Bay to the -45 foot contour in the Bay of Panama; the channel in Colon Harbor from the seaward end to Boca Mindi to be 500 feet wide on the bottom, and 41 feet deep; from Boca Mindi to near the Sosa tide lock, 150 feet wide on the bottom and 40 feet deep in earth and 200 feet wide on the bottom and 40 feet deep in rock; approach to the tide lock to be 350 feet wide and the channel from the tide lock to the -45 foot contour in Panama Bay, 300 feet wide. This plan includes a concrete dam at Gamboa and a twin tide lock at Sosa with chambers 110 feet by 1,000 feet. The average width of channel in this project would be 218 feet and the minimum width 150 feet.

MEAL-TIME AT AN ISTHMIAN CANAL COMMISSION KITCHEN

ESTIMATED COST OF LOCK CANAL UNDER CONSTRUCTION.

The cost estimated by the present Commission for completing the Canal is $325,201,000, which includes $20,053,000 for sanitation, and $7,382,000 for civil administration.

These figures do not include the $50,000,000 paid to the New French Canal Company and to the Republic of Panama for property and franchises. Hence, it is estimated that the total cost of the Canal to the United States will approximate $375,000,000.

TIME OF COMPLETION.

It is thought that the construction of the Panama Canal will be completed by January 1, 1915.

UNIT COSTS OF CANAL WORK.
(Not including plant.)

The approximate cost of dry excavation for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909, was 54 cents per cubic yard for direct charges, and 11 cents per cubic yard for general administration, making a total of 65 cents. The cost of dredging was 12½ cents per cubic yard for direct charges, and 3 cents per cubic yard for general administration, or a total of 15½ cents. The average cost per cubic yard for wet and dry excavation was 37 cents for direct charges, and 8 cents for general administration, making a total of 45 cents as against an average cost of 57 cents for these two items for the preceding fiscal year, a reduction of about 21 per cent.

STEAM SHOVEL EQUIPMENT.

There are now on the Isthmus forty-eight 95-ton, forty-two 70-ton, ten 45-ton, and one 38-ton steam shovels, or a total of 101 steam shovels.

FORCE EMPLOYED.

In the month of February, 1910, there were approximately 45,000 employees on the Isthmus on the rolls of the Commission and of the Panama Railroad, about 5,000 of whom were Americans. There were actually at work on March 2, 1910, 34,733 men, 29,954 for the Commission, and 4,779 for the Panama Railroad Company. Of the 29,954 men working for the Commission, 4,599 were on the gold roll, which comprises those paid in United States currency, and 25,355 men on the silver roll, which comprises those paid on the basis of Panamanian currency or its equivalent. Those on the gold roll include mechanics, skilled artisans of all classes, clerks, and higher officials, most of whom are Americans; those on the silver roll include principally the common laborers, who are practically all foreigners. Of the 4,779 Panama Railroad employees, 769 were on the gold roll.

BENEFITS FROM THE CANAL.

In 1879 President Hayes declared that "an interoceanic canal across the American Isthmus will essentially change the geographic relations between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States and between the United States and the rest of the world." Another authority, C. H. Forbes Lindsay, in his recent work, "Panama," says, "America will always be the greatest beneficiary of the advantages accruing from the use of the waterway." The benefits will not be confined to any one locality nor to any one class of her people. Each section will feel the impulse of new markets for its products. The advantages arising from cheaper labor and shorter routes which European producers have had over those of the United States in competing for South American and Oriental trade will no longer exist. New railroads will be built and new steamship lines will be established to carry on the exchange of commodities between this country and South America, whose ports will then be 3,000 miles nearer to our markets than to those of Europe. The new and shorter route to Australia and the Orient will mean inestimable commercial advantages, and possibilities of expanded trade and intercourse with distant peoples. It is not only possible but probable that within a few years an inland ship canal will connect the Great Lakes with the Mississippi River. Then ocean steamships will carry the products from the Northwestern States and Canada through the Gulf of Mexico and via the Panama Canal to the Pacific and Asian ports.

Although designed primarily for commercial uses, the construction of the canal will have important political results. It will afford increased facilities for military movements, and it will become, as President Hayes prophesied, "a part of the coast-line of the United States." The need for this short route from one coast to the other has been felt by the United States ever since the acquirement of territory bordering on the Pacific Ocean. That the time had come when it could no longer be safely postponed was forcibly demonstrated when the battleship Oregon, on the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, made the journey from San Francisco to join the Atlantic fleet. The completion of the canal will bring San Francisco within fourteen days of New York by steamers making 16 knots an hour. Then the fleets of the United States navy will be able to concentrate at any threatened point in a few days instead of requiring several weeks for the operation.

There are other aspects of the good which will accrue to the United States from the building of the canal which are already felt. The work of construction—from the very day when the Commission took possession of the zone to begin the work of sanitation and preparation for the great engineering feats to follow—cannot but interest, inspire, and broaden the people of the whole land. To conquer the difficulties which have daunted other nations; to turn the danger spots of tropical swamps and disease-breeding regions into clean, healthful, and attractive localities, where workmen may live in comfort while prosecuting their task; to watch the progress and final triumph of intelligent, honorable energy over material and moral obstacles—these are experiences which will quicken and refine American character.

It is believed by the most enlightened men of the age that the completion of the Panama Canal will be a boon to all nations of the earth, that the commerce of all will benefit by it, and that the increased facilities for intercourse and legitimate competition in trade will create healthy, human sympathy among the nations, and enlightenment which will make for universal peace.
